About American University in the Emirates

History

The American University in the Emirates (AUE) originated in the Academic Year (AY) 2006-2007 as the "American College in the Emirates" (ACE). The College's initial mission "to offer quality, multidisciplinary, and career-oriented academic degree programs, that prepare students for successful employment and continuing higher education." As a self-financed institution, ACE awarded two-year associate degrees in media, information technology, business, and design. At this time, the United Arab Emirates and Dubai governments and business sectors accepted graduates with associate degrees for intermediate and entry-level employment.

The College labeled itself an "American College" since it offered associate degrees under a credit hour system and an American curriculum comprised of General Education and free elective courses. In the 63-credithours associate degree programs, ACE focused on General Education and the Liberal Arts during the first year of study, and offered specialization courses with job training for the second year.

The initial intake in the 2006/07 year was comprised of 40 students—a blend of first-year students and working professionals. By the year's end, 21 students had dropped out due to a lack of English language and mathematics competency. For a startup, self-financed institution, a greater than 50% dropout rate was a significant challenge. However, with the shareholders' commitment and financial support, the founding Board of Trustees and the College President were inspired to continue with the project of establishing a new, top quality academic institution that would prioritize academic rigor and education. The Board of Trustees added two new priorities to the initial strategic plan: 1) student success and retention; and 2) resource optimization.

By the end of AY 2007/08, the College developed the slogan "Nothing is Impossible" to inspire students to thrive and overcome all challenges in academic and professional endeavors, as well as to motivate the College's faculty members and staff to work effectively and efficiently in the face of inevitable early obstacles.

During AY 2008/09, before ACE graduated its first cohort (i.e., the class of 2007), the global financial crisis affected most business firms in Dubai and the Gulf region in general. As a result, organizations downsized and retained only the most skilled and experienced staff. The College's Board of Trustees observed the effects of the crisis on the United Arab Emirates' markets and business firms and the College's graduates. Consequently, to meet the new market dynamics, the Board was determined to equip its graduates with more knowledge, skills, and competencies by offering full bachelor's degree programs.

Academic Policies and Regulations

Academic Integrity

The University expects all its students, faculty members and staff to adhere to and maintain high standards of academic honesty and integrity, as well as to respect the work and creativity of others in all of their work. All University stakeholders are expected to understand the definitions of cheating and plagiarism, and other offences defined in this policy, as well as the consequences of detection and the penalties that will be imposed.

Academic Integrity Principles

The University adopts (ICAI) academic integrity principles as the commitment to six fundamental values:

- 1) Honesty: As students and faculty members pursue knowledge, they must be truthful with one another and with themselves. In classrooms, laboratories, and libraries, fostering and practicing honesty provides the groundwork for a lifetime of integrity.
- 2) Trust: One of the most important aspects of academic work is the capacity to believe that someone is telling the truth. Members of the academic community must be able to believe that neither student nor faculty work is fabricated and that everyone is held to the same standards. Students, faculty members, and researchers can openly collaborate, share information, and disseminate new ideas when they have confidence in one another. Faculty promote trust by setting clear guidelines for assignments and for evaluating student work in an equitable, timely, and forthright manner.
- 3) Fairness: Fairness is a crucial element in the formation of ethical communities. It encompasses predictability, transparency, and clear, reasonable expectations. Fairness reinforces the significance of truth, ideas, logic, and rationality, impartial treatment.

Faculty members are fair to students and to one another, and they presents an ideal example by clearly articulating expectations, constantly responding to dishonesty, and continuously maintaining academic integrity principles. Students demonstrate fairness by completing their own original work, properly acknowledging borrowed work, following and enforcing academic integrity policies, and preserving the institution's excellent reputation.

4) Respect: Respect in academic communities is mutual and needs both self-respect and respect for others. Respect for oneself entails confronting obstacles without surrendering one's own principles. Respect for others is appreciating the variety of viewpoints and recognizing the need to challenge, test, and refine ideas.

Students demonstrate respect when they value and take advantage of opportunities to obtain new knowledge by taking an active role in their own education, contributing to class debates, attentively listening to various viewpoints, and performing to the best of their abilities. Respect is demonstrated by faculty members taking students' ideas seriously, acknowledging them as unique individuals, assisting them in the development of their ideas, offering complete and honest comments on their work, and valuing their opinions and aims.

5) Responsibility: Integrity is both an individual commitment and a social responsibility. Every member of an academic community—each student, staff member, faculty member, and administrator—is responsible to themselves and each other for protecting the integrity of its study, teaching, and service.

Being responsible involves opposing misconduct, avoiding negative peer pressure, and setting a good example. Individuals who are accountable take responsibility for their own behavior and seek to discourage and avoid misconduct in others. In addition to creating and enforcing classroom, responsible faculty members also effectively communicate the expectations accordance to these policies. They adhere to university policies and maintain their commitment.

6) Courage: Courage is the capacity to act in accordance with one's values despite fear. Students who demonstrate courage hold themselves and their peers to the highest standards of academic integrity, despite the possibility of negative consequences, such as a failing grade or reprisal from peers or others. Courage displays itself in faculty members' commitment to hold oneself, students, and other faculty accountable for upholding an environment of integrity as indicated by the five extra principles. Faculty are accountable for fostering a climate that promotes integrity.

Violations of the Principles of Academic Integrity may include but not limited to:

Responsibility of Faculty Members

Faculty members should emphasize the importance of academic integrity in the learning process to students by alerting them that the University does not tolerate any academic integrity violation, or other kinds of academic misconduct. Faculty members are responsible for implementing strategies that make plagiarism and copying more difficult. Such is dividing a project or assignment into many milestones and requiring students to submit multiple drafts and submissions. Faculty members supplement students with guidelines for appropriate writing techniques and citations as part of the coursework. Faculty members are responsible for adhering to this policy and for reporting any identified academic integrity violation, and they are expected to take measures to discover plagiarism and other breaches and, if confirmed, impose the penalties outlined in this procedure.

It is the responsibility of department chairs and program directors to coordinate the investigation processes and coordinate the imposition of penalties for alleged examination and assessment violations.

Academic Integrity Procedures

This procedure must be adhered to, when a student is perceived to be violating the University's Academic Integrity Policy.

Misconduct Categories

The following categories of common offenses correspond essentially to the three levels of penalties.

- Minor Academic Misconduct: Applicable to early stages of a student's study. Typical instances would include where there is a very small impact, such as poor referencing, lack or incorrect attribution for copied work inserted in an assignment, paraphrasing without adequate acknowledgement, or minor similarity is detected.

In Minor Misconduct, faculty members and Student support services provide students with supplementary assistance in the form of explanations and examples of acceptable academic writing techniques should always be provided where necessary.

 - Any repeated (second) moderate academic misconduct.

Penalties

Penalties are associated to the category and severity of the academic misconduct. Penalties are categorized into two levels: Faculty level penalties, Institution level penalties. They vary according to the level of study (undergraduate or graduate degrees), and the weight of the assessment.

a. Faculty Level Penalties

All faculty-level penalties are coursework assessment violations of academic integrity. Based on the nature of the misconduct, course faculty members can impose one or more penalties defined below.

Handling Academic Integrity Violation for Assessment

Course faculty members are responsible for assessing and grading student coursework, and they are accountable for determining if an academic integrity violation has been committed. They are primarily responsible for assessing the severity of a violation and imposing an appropriate penalty. If a faculty member suspects a student has violating academic integrity, he or she may acquire evidence either directly or through the input of others.

The faculty member presents the student with the available evidence of the suspected violation and requires an explanation. If the student agrees to the faculty member's charges and the faculty member is satisfied with the student's explanation, penalties are imposed according to the penalties categories defined in this procedure.

Referring the Violation to the Disciplinary Committee

In case the student denies the allegations and the situation cannot be settled between the faculty and the student, or in case the violation is deemed major, the faculty member refers the case to the institution-level disciplinary committee. The faculty member submits an Academic Integrity Violation Report through the system, along with any supporting documentation and other evidence. There are four academic support services offices under this department that offer a range of services that entirely focus on ensuring academic success and the academic life of the student.

Academic Advising and Student Success Office

The Advising and Student Success Office is focused on enabling students to achieve their academic goals throughout their journey towards fulfilling their degree requirements. The goals of the Advising and Student Success Office are as follows:

- To provide advising support services that supplement the advising function at the college-level while enabling students to achieve their academic goals.
- To provide the academic support needed for students to achieve their course-specific goals and enhance the skills necessary for success in achieving the learning outcomes of their programs.

The Office provides students support in two important areas:

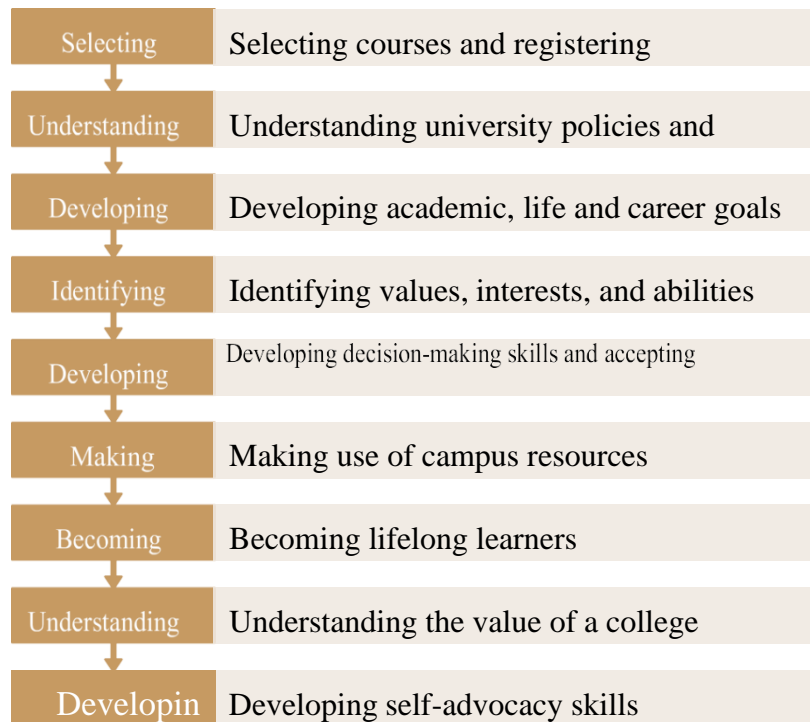

- Advising services which center on providing students with the support needed as they make fundamental decisions about their academic goals, course registration in line with their study plans, providing students with the information needed to better understand their academic standing, and developing strategies that enables students to confidently move towards their academic goals.
- Success support services which focuses on providing students at risk with the support needed in obtaining course-specific support in the form of peer mentorship. This process is particularly important given that it is built on a system in which students with a demonstrated record of academic excellence are given the opportunity to develop their own leadership/mentorship skills and gain practical experience as they assist their peers in subjects/skillsets in which they may be struggling. This student-centric learning process provides a unique learning experience for the students and enables them to more actively engage in the learning process whether as mentors or mentees.

The Office offers a variety of services including:

1. First Year Advising
2. Peer Advising
3. Mentoring Program
4. Academic Coaching
5. Workshops

First Year Advising

The Advising and Students Success Office is mainly focused on first-year students to assist them through their academic journey and help them avoid typical first-year pitfalls including low academic performance. The graph below maps the student's journey in their first year:

Peer Advising

Peer Advisors are academic achievers in their junior or senior year at AUE who use first-hand experience to advise fellow undergraduate students. They are available to meet virtually to recommend strategies for success in their specific college at AUE and answer questions from a student's perspective. Which is mainly helping the students to have a better perspective about their majors, courses, instructors, and their future career.

Mentoring Program

The mentoring program is one of the most effective academic support services in the AUE which offer the students to have a mentor "Study Buddy" in any General, Core, Specialization courses offered in the AUE. In the student's study plan many courses can require a mentor because of the student's previous knowledge background didn't cover such topic before so it is always important for the students to have the mentoring program in the top of their head as soon as they need an academic help in the course.

Sign Up for a Mentor:

1. Request a mentor either through the student portal or MS Teams to the Advising and Students Success Office.
2. The Advising and Students Success Office will find a mentor and arrange a suitable time for both the mentor and mentee to meet.
3. The mentor and mentee meet either virtually via MS Teams or on campus. If the mentee does not attend the arranged mentoring session

Academic Coaching

The academic coaching is focusing on the learning process, and it is always helping the students to answer two main questions 1) How to learn? And 2) why to learn?

To answer these two questions the student is taken into a journey to learn the following: -

1. Assesses the reading: which is to use formal assessments that has a reading passage followed by questions about the passage and the other way is the informal way which is to make the students tell a story and write it in their own words to be able to evaluate the student level academically.
2. Time management: one of the main skills the student must learn through the university journey as students will be experiencing multitasking and it requires to manage your time and map all the tasks for a guaranteed success.
3. Goal setting: everyone should have a specific goal and purpose while studying in any major or college and this goal, so the office of advising and students success will help to make it clear and easy to accomplish if the student decided to follow the plan agreed on.
4. Note-taking: taking notes in the class is one of the most important tips that helps in saving a lot of time while studying and revising which we coach the basics of taking notes and its importance and how to take understandable notes that saves the student time and power.
5. Test-taking: training the students on taking tests and making them familiar with the essay writing questions and to be specific to the point with covering all the question areas to guarantee a full mark.
6. Study habits that students currently have: the human is a creature of habits and it is a mix between good habits and bad habits and the main purpose of this training is to develop the good habits and get rid of the bad habits from an academic perspective. The key to become an effective student is learning how to study smarter, not harder.
7. Instructs students on strategies that will enhance their learning: it is a teaching practice that shows students how to learn the content or skills they need to acquire. It provides students with clear strategies (such as note-taking or thinking aloud) to help them process, remember, and express the information they learn.
8. Helps students devise a plan for their future success: after learning all the previous tips it is the time to think of the future and this is the main thing, we guarantee the student to make which is to create a real plan that maps their future success and to know exactly what is next and what is most likely to happen to be always ready.

Workshops

As a freshman to the university have many questions that is popping up in their minds and mainly, they are lost in many ways. The most important thing in the office workshops are the titles of the workshops as we want all our workshop to deliver a direct message that helps the student develop and map their future success and the main topics the office is focusing on are:

1. Time Management: Managing time efficiently could not only improve your productivity but will also help you to achieve a less stressful and more enjoyable way of operating, both within your study life and outside it. This practical and interactive workshop will demonstrate how to improve the way you manage yourself, your colleagues, and your environment to achieve efficiency and effectiveness.

2. The Mid-Semester Check-Up: it's never too late! Many students they fall into a common mistake which is they recognize their bad grades after the first half of the semester so This workshop will help students make a new game plan for improving their grades in the second half of the semester by reconsidering and strengthening their time management, reading, organization, and study strategies.
3. There is too much to read: one of the main challenges the students face is to have many things to study for their quizzes, midterms or finals and there are easy tips to follow so you can finish studying all the course materials in an efficient way.
4. Final's preparation: usually the most stressful time of the academic year for the students is the finals time and students they do have directly before the final exams the final project submissions, so the workshop is mainly focusing on how to prepare your final projects as soon as it is announced by the course instructor and then to be ready for the final exam with smart tips to follow.
